Description :

PDF-95464 | Emerald Points. Drawing from decades of research, Genes, Climate, and Consumption Culture: Connecting the Dots demonstrates how climate dictates culture and consumption. The author shows that human genes are climatic adaptations over thousands of years of evolution, which has resulted in the dramatic differences between people's food, clothing, and shelter choices. Most importantly, the book discu... Genes, Climate, and Consumption Culture: Connecting the Dots (Emerald Points)
